

For Domestic Violence Awareness Month

Make MoCo Purple

Maryland has designated October 1 as Purple Light Night in recognition of Domestic Violence Awareness Month and as a visible show of support for victims. Make MoCo Purple carries that message throughout October with a countywide campaign to make domestic violence prevention visible, share local resources, and connect victims and their children with support.

Objective: Bring Montgomery County together around a shared message of safety, awareness, and support for victims of domestic violence and their children.

Why It Matters

Nearly 2,000 families seek help through the Montgomery County Family Justice Center each year. Domestic violence affects children, workplaces, schools, neighborhoods, and the safety of our entire community.

Community Action

Display purple lights and campaign materials, share local resources, and help Montgomery County recognize the warning signs of abuse and connect victims with support.

Who Can Participate

Businesses • Schools • Municipalities • Faith Communities • Neighborhoods • Nonprofits • Civic Groups • County Agencies • Residents

Sponsorship

- Show your employees and community your dedication to safety
- Support awareness and resource access for victims in Montgomery County

Partnership

- Display window cling and signage
- Host or promote a DVAM event
- Share resources with staff and clientele
- Help reach more community members

Volunteering

- Help distribute materials
- Recruit businesses and partners
- Support events
- Join our planning team
- Share resources

Free interactive workshops are available to schedule. Allow us to teach your employees, community, and friends about domestic violence awareness at no cost to you.

With your help, this Domestic Violence Awareness Month will include a community effort to spread the word on resources, warning signs, and support for victims in your community.
